CLASSIC TOURS – COACH BREAK INFORMATION

Luggage

Please take only one medium-sized suitcase per person. You can also bring a small holdall on the coach.

Seat Offers

You can ask _____ a particular seat when you book most coach breaks. But seats are given on a “first come, first served” basis, so book early. When you book with us, you’ll get the best available seats on the coach at that time.

Travel Documents

After you pay your deposit, we’ll send you all the necessary documents and labels in good time before the coach break starts. Some _____ (for example, air or boat tickets) may be kept by our company. Your driver or courier will give them to you at the right time.

Special Diets

If you need a special diet, tell us when you book and send a copy of the diet. We’ll tell the hotels about it. But on some coach breaks, the hotels are tourist class. They offer good value for money, but they may not be able to provide special diets. If there are extra costs, you must pay them directly to the hotel before you leave.

Accommodation

Many of our coach breaks include accommodation with private facilities in the price. This is shown on the coach break page. Some coach breaks have only a few rooms with private facilities.

You can book and guarantee them when you make a reservation — but you'll need to pay an extra charge (this is shown in the price panel).

There are only a few single rooms on any coach break. If a single room is available, you may need to pay extra — this is shown in the brochure.

Entertainment

Some hotels offer extra entertainment: music, dancing, film shows, etc. The hotel decides what entertainment to offer, so it's not guaranteed. It may be cancelled if not enough people want to take part.

Unusual and wonderful jobs*A. Chocolate consultant

If you love chocolate, becoming a chocolate consultant could be an exciting job. There are various types of chocolate consultants, so you can follow the best career path for you. You could work full-time with well-known brands or focus on smaller brands that specialise in specific types of chocolate.

To be successful in this job, you must have a passion for chocolate and an interest in understanding the many varieties of cocoa. For this reason, you need a lot of knowledge in certain subjects. Chemistry and food-based subjects are particularly useful. Although you could work for companies that produce chocolate-based products, you could also be in charge of your career, advising chocolate buyers on which products to buy or running chocolate-tasting events.

B. LEGO sculptor

Many of us have enjoyed building things with LEGO blocks as children, but for some people, this childhood activity can turn into a career. LEGO has temporary jobs and long-term positions for certified professionals who create models and sets for the company. These LEGO sculptors work within specific themes and are based in Legoland Discovery Centres around the world.

Becoming a LEGO sculptor is quite challenging. There are usually only between nine and 30 jobs available worldwide. To be hired, you need to successfully complete different tasks, including building difficult LEGO models.

C. Island caretaker

This role is often described as the best job in the world, and it's easy to see why! In 2009, the Queensland Tourism Board created a position to promote the Islands of the Great Barrier Reef. The lucky employee from the UK – chosen among thousands of applicants – earned £73,400 on a temporary job for six months, living on an island in the Great Barrier Reef. His job involved swimming, exploring underwater, and having fun while filming and blogging about his experiences. At the end of his contract, the British island caretaker was promoted to a new job as a Global Tourism Ambassador, representing Queensland tourism around the world.

D. Shark tank cleaner

Cleaning windows might not sound thrilling, but what if you did it in the water surrounded by sharks? That would be a different story, surely! Shark tank cleaners have to swim with sharks to make the tank's glass clean and shiny while visitors watch the whole process. This job requires a person who is not only brave but also a strong swimmer and experienced diver. Of course, if you're afraid of sharks, it might be safer to look for other opportunities!

E. Professional sleeper

If you love sleeping and can't get enough of it, why not turn that passion into a career? Professional sleepers often participate in sleep studies, but there are also more unusual opportunities. For example, in 2009, women were hired for a temporary job where they were paid to sleep as part of a 'living art' exhibit at The New Museum of Contemporary Art in New York while tourists visited the museum.
